Excerpt: . . . and national colors gracefully draped about the walls. The attendance was quite large, embracing, besides the youth and beauty of Ann Arbor, quite a number of strangers. The costumes were attractive and elegant. The music, furnished by Prof. Spells orchestra, of Detroit, was exquisite. Altogether, the occasion reflected credit upon the Junior class. --A certain student, not u thousand miles from Ann Arbor, bet a young lady a kiss on the result of the presidential election--If Hayes won she was to pay: if Tilden was elected he was to pay. On themorningof the 8th he called and paid his bet; on the 9th ho called and took it back. That evening she puid the bet. Next evening she took It back, and he paid; then she paid and he paid, and so they have been kept busy ever since by contradictory dispatches, and both declare their willingness and ability to hold out until CongresB decides the question. They dont like the compromise. --We are In receipt of a letter from one of the founders of Tili, : Chroniii. e, a member of the class of 69. He says: the ChronIcle originated with our class, as a strictly college production, --a few 68 men having started it as a private concern, the year previous, --and we feel some pride it its success. Such testimonials as these from the alumni of the college cannot fall to delight the heart of the editor, and repay him well...
