Moreover, the observations were made prior to the armistice, which was signed on November 11, and the purpose of the visit was to ascertain conditions of European agriculture as they related to the agriculture of the United States under a continuance of the war. The Commission arrived in Liverpool on September 5, and, returning, sailed from Liverpool on October 20. In some respects, therefore, the reports lose interest except for their historical value, but for the most part the data, the suggestions, and the recommendations possess large economic value in appraising agricultural responsibilities in the United States for the year 1919 and for the years immediately following, and they exhibit some new angles of mutual responsibility and interest. Some of the outstanding facts are: Great Britain s war agriculture in 1915 increased her home-grown bread supplies fourfold. The reports for the harvest of 1918 indicate that in the matter of breadstuffs England could supply herself forty weeks of the year as against ten weeks in 1916. - Thompson. France s production of foods decreased sharply, especially in sugar beets, which were grown principally in the northern area, where the ravages of war were greatest. Prior to the war France was producing about 800,000 tons of sugar and consuming about 600,000 tons. The present production of France...
